A logger looks back

In Part Two of his story, retired Haliburton logger Jim Way covers his career after the Second World War

DURING THE WAR YEARS I was exempted from service because of the business I was in. We were producing spruce for airplane propellers and three-inch thick firsts and seconds birch for Brin gun stocks. First and seconds are the two top grades in hardwood lumber.

Our hardwood went to the States to Atlantic Lumber Co., Boston, Mass., Wineboard Boxes in Toronto, and Pedwell Lumber in Orillia. Poplar went to Beck at Penetang, and the softwood went to Orillia, Toronto and Lindsay.

A typical day trucking lumber was to leave early in the morning with 5000 feet of rough hemlock headed for Toronto. For this we got $5 per thousand so the whole trip would give us $25. On the way home I would pick up groceries in Lindsay or hay at Downeyville or oats at Quaker Oats in Peterborough.

We bought a considerable number of logs from the local farmers and sawed these after we had finished the main cut. Also we would do custom sawing for anyone wishing some logs sawn.

One weekend which I remember quite well, involved the station agent, who lived in Bancroft and travelled right with the train.

We had ordered a truck spring from Toronto, and it came in on the train this particular day. The agent phoned us when the train arrived in Gooderham, and said that the spring was on the train, but he said, be on the lookout when the train is passing your house as he would throw the spring out the baggage car door (without stopping the train). This he did and we went out and picked it out of the snow bank, which was better than driving to the station to get it. Pretty good service I would say. Our little house was probably 60 feet from the mainline.

Some food products were in short supply such as butter and sugar and the government issued us books of coupons to give our supplier in order to replenish our stock. If a man worked for you and you were boarding him he was supposed to supply you with current coupons so you could replace what he had used. In theory this might work but in practice it did not. When you got the book it was quite often stripped of the coupons that you needed. They were dated and the dates had to correspond to the time he was in your employ. Gas rationing was in effect, and here again you had to produce the necessary coupons to get gas. The more necessary your business was to the war effort, the bigger your quota of gasoline. We were allowed as much marked gasoline as we needed, but we had to surrender the licence plates so the gas couldn't be used on the highway.

Quite often it is necessary to come down a steep hill with a sleigh load of logs, and this can be dangerous if the hill isn't properly sanded so a man with experience is needed here.

He had to know how much sand to put in the runner tracks; if too much, the horses cannot draw the load, if too little the load will crowd the horses. After a storm he had to clear off the hill and put on the proper amount of sand. The sand had to be burnt in order to work properly. This was done by keeping a fire on, and thawing the sand in a hole dug in the bank close to the hill.

Sometimes snow was required instead of sand especially in the spring when it was thawing and the previous sand was starting to show up. Very often the men working in the area would come to the sand hill for lunch as there was always a fire to boil the tea pail. An eight or 10 quart pail was suspended over the fire in a tripod arrangement and when it was boiling someone would throw in a handful of tea, and, believe me, this was real tea, and was strong enough to float an iron wedge. If the men's sandwiches were frozen they held them over the fire on a forked stick for a few seconds to thaw them out.

Just as soon as the ice was out of the lakes in the spring we would start our log drive, but we always seemed to be scarce of water. After the spring run-off we had to rely on water stored in the lakes upstream from us. This wasn't a case of pulling the stop logs farther up the system but we had to get permission from Ottawa and the proper authorities notified here who went and gave you the designated amount of water. The government didn't want to give you too much because if they did the cottagers would be screaming because the water was too low at their dock. Sometimes it might have been better driving on a heavy dew; however, one way or another we got the logs to the mill.

We were usually done sawing by the middle of the summer and as soon as the lumber had dried we would start to ship it out. It had to be reasonably dry or you would be paying freight on moisture.

Some customers for hardwood lumber would demand a "national inspection" this was done by a grader who had taken a course on the National Hardwood Association rules. They were not always right. I have known instances where my father had done the grading and when the lumber had reached the destination the customer would fault the shipment, and dad, knowing the shipment was pretty close to grade would then ask them for a National Inspection. Sometimes a dispute could be settled arbitrarily, which was the best as national inspectors didn't work cheap.

Another incident happened where our national inspector was shipping hardwood for me at Tory Hill. After the first day I knew he wasn't doing it right as the grade had fallen way below the previous shipment. A friend of mine, looking at what was being laid out as 2 common, found considerable 1 common in it. The next morning I told the inspector I wasn't shipping any more so he packed up and left. I hired another inspector from Bancroft area, who wasn't a national inspector. The grade came back to normal and the customer was satisfied. I had to remove every board from the box car and reinspect it. Later I found out he was a new man at the job, and he wasn't taking any chances and playing it safe at my expense. There is a certain degree of leeway, but I don't know how much.

Logger would have changed very little

I was married in 1940, and my wife Dorothy and mother looked after the cookery in the summer for the mill crew. Our daughter, Marilyn (Burton), was born in 1942, and son Curtis in 1945.

During the summer months when the cookery was operating the commercial travellers would seem to hit our place about noon. Travellers for Oil Co. and Canada Packers always enjoyed a good hearty camp meal at Ways Hill. No charge, no tax, no tip - those were the good old days.

In 1947, my father decided he was moving to Toronto to build houses, and I could have the balance of the timber left on the Anstruther licence. I hired the cutting, skidding and sawing done the first couple of years, and then bought my own small mill and located it at Tory Hill. My logs were now coming from the Otter Lake area. This was a lot smaller operation than the Gooderham one. The little mill would only produce about seven to eight thousand feet per day.

In order to finance the sawing of the lumber I had to borrow money against the logs that were in the yard. I contacted a wholesaler in Toronto and asked him for a contract. He said, sure I'll give you a contract with a floor in it, but no ceiling - meaning that he would give me more than the contract price if he could. Needless to say he got all the hardwood I produced during the balance of time I was in the business. We had an excellent business relationship.

Here's a humorous incident that I remember: in getting from the village to my mill we had to pass through a clearing with several pine stumps that were rotting down. Someone had artfully draped an old fur coat over one of these stumps, and at a distance it looked remarkably like a black bear. At noon, one of the first men going home for lunch saw this, and thinking it was a bear, rushed home, got his rifle, and came back and pumped this stump and fur coat full of lead. He was quite a few days living this incident down.

This then, touches on some of my experiences in the lumbering logging business, as well as the river driving. About this time my sources of standing timber was getting depleted, so I came to Haliburton and purchased the local machine and welding shop, as well as the home we are now living in.

Prior to this the shop was located where the Valumart parking lot now stands, but when I purchased it it was where the Halco Plaza is now and the main entrance was approximately where Bruce's Barber Shop is. I operated here for five years and then moved over to the Mill Reserve in front of the United Church, where my son-in-law Murray Burton still operates Haliburton Machine and Manufacturing and my daughter, the Purple Door. I operated the machine shop for about 23 or 24 years under the name of Haliburton Machine and Manufacturing Ltd. During this period, I designed and manufactured over 50 Waybilt forklifts, working out of the machine shop in Haliburton Village. Some of these included parts from tanks in their construction. In 1974 my son-in-law purchased it.

At the beginning of my retirement I had one final fling at saw milling. I built a small hobby mill in my garage and produced small quantities of lumber, that I am now using in my woodworking shop to make cabinets, chests, tables and looms, to name a few articles. Over the years people have given me logs, and because of their generosity I now have some dry lumber to work with. I can never remember a time in my life when there wasn't more to do than I was ever going to get done. If I had it to do all over again there is very little that I would want to change.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Bell were in St. Catharines on the weekend visiting Mary's parents and putting in a garden for them. Their own children will spend the holiday weekend with them and combine it with Mother's Day.

Many families had their children home for Mother's Day. Mine were here for Saturday.

Sinclair Russell and family had a very beautiful basket of flowers that seemed to have Ron's artistic touch on display in the church to commemorate Mabel's life.

Alice Voicey and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Lamb joined the rest of the family in Lindsay for a Mother's Day breakfast.

Mrs. Basil Sisson, the former Pearl Harrison of Orillia, passed away on Friday, May 12. She was the sister of Blanche Windsor and Gertie Allcorn. The funeral was on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Garth Windsor and June Mason attended. Our sympathy to the family.

A celebration of courage:

Accident victim Tony Birrell marks his birthday and fifth anniversary of his hospital discharge with an open house

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

There's no place like home, especially for Tony Birrell who had to spend six years in a hospital because there was no where else for him to go.

On May 28, therefore, it will be with pride that Birrell welcomes everyone to an open house at his home in Peterborough. The celebration marks his birthday, as well as the fifth anniversary of being discharged from hospital.

Among the people joining the celebration are his parents, Bruce and Primrose Birrell. For them, Tony's house is a symbol of victory, the culmination of their long and stressful fight to allow their son this important measure of independence.

In August, 1984, Tony was taking part in a water ski demonstration. He was legally blind and was taken into a part of the lake he was unfamiliar with. He crashed into the vertical wall of a ski jump ramp. Technology kept him alive but he suffered irreparable brain damage.

"The family had a crash course in comas, brain injuries and all the amazing technology of intensive care, as well as an introduction to the unbelievably slow litigation process," says a family newsletter announcing the open house. "He went from a completely independent lifestyle to total dependence on others for his every need."

"It is said that 90% of severe brain injuries used to result in death; now, through medical technology, 90% are saved. The big question is 'Saved for what?' After a severe brain injury you're a different person. Successful rehabilitation involves finding out who that new person is, what they can achieve, restoring their dignity and finding them a meaningful life in the community."

"Tony, through his own sheer will power and determination, has survived. He has learned for a second time how to talk, to eat, to walk, to master his environment, and he now lives a lifestyle that none of the experts thought possible. We are proud of him."

It wasn't easy, however. The Birrells fought long and hard to get their son out of a hospital, where he was both physically and chemically restrained.

The house in Peterborough is a testament to their success. In 1989 they reached an out-of-court settlement which provided them with enough money to buy the large two-storey house in a quiet neighbourhood in Peterborough, where his brother and guardian Syd lives with his family. The house has two apartments which help pay for Tony's 24-hour care.

His primary caregiver is Ramona Guindon. "Her sensitivity has been a key to Tony's re-integration into the community," the newsletter says. "Part of her job is to arrange the staffing schedule, to arrange the doctor/dentist appointments, to co-ordinate his out-of-house activities and to supervise the running of the house. But more important has been her guiding hand as Tony went from total round-the-clock care, with never a decision of his own to make, to the independence of living in his own home and deciding what to do with his life. Too much too soon means two steps backward; not enough stimulation means boredom and a drop in self-esteem."

On weekdays, Tony goes to work at Kawartha Ability Training Services, which seeks to improve the quality of life of all challenged individuals through the instruction of several skills programs. During the warmer months, he goes horseback riding every Tuesday at the

Tony at his home in Peterborough

Peterborough Association for the Riding Disabled. A constant companion is his chocolate Labrador, Misty.

The Kawartha Participation Project plays another important role. Every weekday morning, at 7 a.m., a woman named Linda Redpath arrives to set the tone for Tony's day. The KPP's mission statement says "we believe that each person has a unique and mysterious value. As such the disabled person is a complete human being and has the rights of every person: the right to life, to care, to education, to work and a home."

There are many other people, paid and volunteer, who help Tony live a life of independence in his own home. The open house is also a salute to their efforts and all they have done to help Tony.

If you would like to attend the open house (no gifts please), it's from 4 to 7 p.m. on Sunday, May 28. The address is 47 Kingan St., Peterborough. Kingan St. is one block north of Parkhill, off Benson Street. Phone 705-741-2141 for more detailed directions.

Tony would love to see many of the people he befriended during his summer and weekends at Soyers Lake. And he'd be glad to give everyone a tour of his place of pride.

Health care aides cover the front lines of treatment

by PETER DOWNS
Staff Reporter

As a health care aide at Extencicare, Pat Cummings has seen many elderly residents die.

It's never easy.

The families of the deceased are always emotionally overwrought.

And sometimes they become frustrated with Cummings and the other staff members at Extencicare. They want them to do more. They want their loved ones to be more comfortable.

The aides and the nursing staff try everything they can, but there is only so much that can be done.

This spring, after working at Extencicare for 12 years, Cummings was able for the first time to get a true understanding of what it is like on the other side.

Her own mother, who was a resident at the nursing home for nine months, passed away on March 7.

"I went through the same frustrations that I see in other families," said Cummings.

But also she was able to gain a brand new perspective of the difficult work she and the other 50 health care aides carry out every day at Extencicare.

"When my mother died here, the girls were so wonderful," she explained "... I saw my co-workers in a whole other light."

While most people have a general idea of the duties of nurses and doctors, fewer understand what it takes to be health care aide.

"They are what we call our front-line workers," said Extencicare nursing supervisor

"We hold their hand if they're upset or lonely and we're often there when they die."

Lynn Phillips. "Their contribution is invaluable. They do all of the hands-on, one-to-one care with our residents."

"We do everything the residents may need from toileting, to feeding and bathing," said Cummings. "We wake them up in the morning and put them to bed at night. We hold their hand if they're upset or lonely and we're often there when they die."

Cummings and co-worker Kelly Harpley, who has worked at Extencicare for three years, say their profession demands a great deal of patience, compassion and empathy, as well as a genuine desire to help others.

It also helps to have a strong back because there is a lot of lifting involved when helping residents.

And though the job is very difficult and often stressful, Harpley and Cummings say caring for others for a living has rewards that cannot be found in other positions.

"You always know you're needed and also you can walk out the door and be happy that you can walk out the door," said Cummings. "People tell you every day that they need you," said Harpley.

Both women received their training at Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton, which offers a six-month health care aide program when there is enough demand.

When Cummings began at Extencicare there was no formal training available. However, once it became a requirement, she enrolled at Sir Sandford.

Over the next few years, the province is planning to widen the scope of duties of health care aides. Along with the change in roles will come a change in titles to patient care workers. Those who are currently working as health care aides will have to take for further training.

Journey for Sight hike a success

GOODERHAM News

Anne Costeloe
447-2400

Energetic citizens from Gooderham participated in the Lion's Club "Journey for Sight", helping to raise funds to provide a seeing eye dog for a Haliburton County resident. The weather was perfect for an afternoon outside - warm, sunny and no bugs. Lions Ron Barr, Walter Leveck and Vince Leveck encouraged fourteen of us to join them for a Sunday afternoon hike around Haliburton, on the 7th of May.

Joining in the hike on foot were: Judy Stoughton, Dawn Stoughton, Marg Bates and her son Tom, Martin Milligan, Marg and Ron Marks, and Francis Leveck. The Gooderham

Girl Guides were represented by cyclists Tracy Billings, Tina and Anne Costeloe.

Several of the Gooderham contingent were awarded prizes. Vince Leveck received one for being the Lion with the "most heart" - he completed the hike on foot, a few days after having open heart surgery. Tom Bates was the first male to cross the finish line. Dawn Stoughton walked the furthest. (She walked forward and back between groups of friends and round in circles during water breaks - covering the distance at least two times over!) Tina Costeloe was the youngest. Anne Costeloe, for the Guides, accepted an award for relaying messages - however, it was actually Tracy Billings, who undertook the extra riding - between the Lions leading float and the vehicles following the procession.

The Women's Ministry of the Pentecostal Church will hold their final meeting of this year on Monday the 29th, 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Meetings will resume in the fall. The Quilting Group will continue their Monday afternoon meetings as usual.

The seniors will be hosting a Pot Luck and Games night on Saturday the 27th, at 6 p.m. Bring your favourite dish, and your favourite board game.

Any seniors who are interested in taking the Canada Safety Council "55 Alive Refresher Driving Course", for mature drivers, being held on June 26 and 27, can register by calling 457-2941. The fee is $20, including lunch. This will be particularly useful to anyone who will be retak-ing their test in the near future.

Dutch welcome overwhelming

WILBERFORCE News

Flo Elliott

Irene Strickland, of Harcourt, who has just returned from the 50th anniversary liberation celebrations in Holland, called to tell me what a great experience it was. The Dutch people's welcome was overwhelming. To see the pennants flying and the flags waving and hear the shouts of "We want the Canadians" brought the tears to her eyes. There was a huge thanksgiving celebration held at Groningen, with 70,000 people jamming the streets. Irene rode through the streets in aansom cab, and everyone clapped and threw flowers, there was excitement everywhere. The only sad note was the visit to the cemetery to see the graves of all the young men who had been killed in this horrible conflict. The tears flowed freely as the padre gave the commentary and blessing. A lady whom Irene met told her that this celebration was just like the one held 50 years ago, when the Canadians reached Holland and for them the war was over.

The Monmouth Seniors' Club is looking forward to having the Haliburton club over for a visit on June 6. A big lunch is planned with entertainment to follow. It's always great to get together with friends for an afternoon of fun.

There will be another euchre party on May 26. These card parties are getting more popular all the time, with twelve tables at the last one. So come on out and visit and meet new people as you move from table to table.

Our little black friends have arrived in full force. What an annoyance! The only thing I can think of to compare them with are the parking meters on the street in Haliburton. They both take a bite out of the visitor, and they both make you feel unwelcome. Surely an up and coming village like Haliburton could do without these pesky iron bandits. With all the extra taxes we have to pay these days, this one seems like the last straw. Yes, I forgot to feed the thing, and yes, I got a ticket and yes, it made me really mad!

Roller skating started on May 20 at the Monmouth arena. I'm sure there will be theme nights, as usual. What a chance for all to show off their fancy footwork.

The Wilberforce Talent Night, which will be on June 10, is well underway. We are grateful for the enthusiasm of the participants. A rehearsal night has yet to be arranged, but we will inform everyone in plenty of time. Please plan to attend this fundraiser for the community centre. It is going to be a really good community effort.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Marion Tallman at the loss of her brother, who lived in the London area.

We have a brand new birthday to report. Kelly and Jamie Anger became the parents of a baby boy on Monday, May 8 at 11:00 p.m. Keith Brady James Anger weighed 7 pounds, 2 1/2 ounces. All three family members are doing well. We congratulate them all. Brady is a grandson for Carol Anger, our librarian.

The Dorset Lions Club keeps busy with all their community activities and they have deservedly received some awards. They have received the Governors Award for continued support and work they do at Lions Camp Dorset. I'm sure the Dialysis Camp is a source of pride for the Lions Club. It is such a splendid and useful facility.

The club also received awards for Best Secretary, getting complete and detailed reports in on time; also, an award for getting the greatest number of new members. We congratulate them.

The trees are budding, the black flies are biting and the grass is ready for cutting. All signs that spring is here, as well as the fact that the children are out in full force on their bicycles. I'm sure the holiday weekend will bring the beginning of the swimming season but the water is still chilly.

Every year I complain about the sidewalks, or lack of them in Dorset. The walk from the Dorset Garage to the end of it is a disgrace as well as a hazard to the safety of the pedestrian. It is broken, with grass growing through the broken pieces and is unfit to walk on.

And, of course, from the bridge beyond the school corner there is now sidewalk at all. If one has to walk in that area, you just take your chance and dodge the cars and hope you win. Oh, for the good old days when pedestrians were given some consideration. I don't have the snow machines to complain about so I have to complain about something.

I had a nice long phone visit with my niece, Kim Tebby, who is now residing in Corpus Christi, Texas. The family seem to be settled in and enjoying their life there. They will be coming north in July for a visit and the family will be happy to see them.

ODE TO THE NETHERLANDS 1995

by Ev Stata
Haliburton

I've just spent two grand weeks in Holland.

Boy, they really went overboard!

They wanted to thank us Canadians

For fifty free years they've enjoyed.

Took a 747 from Toronto,

Never thought 'twould get off the ground

But flew through the sunset and dawning

And landed us all safe and sound.

Such a glorious welcome awaited us.

We're feted like queens and like kings,

Paraded round town heaped with flowers;

With adulation our ear still rings.

Their generosity is unbounded

We're wined and dined with the best.

Laden with gifts and mementos,

But with the jet-lag didn't get much rest.

At Apeldoorn the crowds are tremendous

Just waiting to applaud our men

While the sun pours down and embraces us

As the Dutch people did 'way back then.

We all scan the marchers so carefully

Looking for a familiar face.

When the crowd broke into "O Canada"

Not a dry eye in the place.

Then sadly we visit the cemetery

To view the results of the war

And to pray that from this day forward

With God's help there'll be war no more.

High school music students perform well at various festivals

A variety of groups of HHSS music students have done a good job this season representing the county in various music festivals.

These students have made a public display of our successes at nurturing the cultural development of our young people.

Good performances were made at the Toronto Kiwanis in February; the Peterborough Kiwanis in April; and the North Hastings Music Festival in Bancroft.

There is a small measure of interest in the competitive aspect of the classes entered but it is far more instructive to hear and adjudication by a music professional and, as much as possible, to perform for and listen to other high school students in other communities. These performance opportunities allow for a good measure of personal growth regardless of and sometimes in spite of the competitive side of festival classes. The chamber music groups (flute choir, clarinet quartet) received second and third awards in Toronto and Peterborough with marks in the mid-80s. The Concert Band, made up of senior students, placed third in Peterborough with a mark of 84. This year's Gr. 9 Band had a first place finish in Bancroft with a mark of 90.

SPRING CONCERT: David Rosenberg and David Hughes keep their eyes on their music sheets as they perform with the HHSS Concert Band during the high school's recent Spring Concert. The concert also featured performances by the Grade 9 Band, a rock band called Opus, the Flute Choir and a Clarinet Quartet.

ASES students show off their public speaking skills

Bea Berry, convenor of education, was pleased to welcome the six public speakers from Archie Stouffer Public School who gave us their speeches at the May 17 meeting of Minden Women's Institute at the Common Room. These students really showed what great speakers they are becoming with their topics. Following this a small token was presented to all by Mrs. Berry and the members showed their appreciation with hearty applause.

The usual agenda went on with 15 members and one guest having their oldest book to pass around as they told its history.

Maud Coulter read the report of Irene Moore sending 16 cards since April meeting and collections of pennies and for card fund went on.

Sheets were passed around so that volunteering hours will be noted for the P.R.O. report of this year may be made. Verla Wilson, a former member, sent good wishes to all. Programs will be planned on Friday, May 26 at the Den Cox's home at 10 a.m. so please all come to help on this and we are having just two on the lunch committee in the coming year.

The next meeting is pot luck lunch at 12 noon at United Church Hall on June 21 and please bring dishes, cutlery and food and a guest if possible.

After adjournment, Doris proved to be a good auctioneer as the plants they brought sold quickly. A social time over a snack and a cup of tea and a chat with others, then went on.

WINNING PIANIST

HHSS student Ian MacKenzie took home four awards from the recent North Hastings Music Festival. He received the highest overall mark at the festival, the highest mark for a pianist, the highest mark for Grade 7 to Grade 9 students and a shared award with Teresa Scheffee for a piano duet.

West Guilford news

Haliburton where Emile Duchene presided at the last official function of his year as Master of North Entrance Lodge.

Congratulations to Jean Randell's parents, Alice and Graham Yetman of Scarborough, who celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary at Jan's sister's place in Beaverton. The family dinner was enjoyed by all present for the special occasion.

The community is invited to St. Peter's Church on June 2 at 7:30 p.m. for an evening of wilderness movie and slides with Bob Davis who has travelled much in the north by canoe. Donations at the door go to the Outreach program. Refreshments will be served.

A successful car wash and bake sale was held at the chapel grounds in West Guilford on Saturday, May 13. The wonderful weather contributed to the success. Enthusiastic young people from the Youth Group under Greg and Sue Marney and George and Peggy Jolyn exhibited lots of energy as they washed and wiped and shone the vehicles involved, or waved signs inviting people to "come this way!"

Congratulations in advance to Ann and Jim Hurley whose 50th anniversary occurs on August 7. However, certain family members were able to congregate in the spring rather than the summer and when you're part of a family of 12 it's understandable that not all can come at once!

On a Saturday in April a pre-celebration occurred at Bonnie View when a brother from Ottawa, a sister from Kamloops, B.C., a brother from Deep River, Ontario, a brother and son from Spain, who were already at PineStone on their travel tour of business, were all able to come and wish the Hurleys all the best.

If you've wondered where the top real estate agents are, the signs are everywhere.

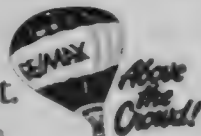

Take a look around, and you'll see there are more RE/MAX "For Sale" signs than other real estate signs. What's behind all the signs? Exceptional real estate agents. How exceptional? Well, in a recent real estate survey, 94% said they were very satisfied with their RE/MAX agent's knowledge of the neighbourhood. 92% went on to say they were satisfied with their RE/MAX agent's negotiating skills. And 96% said they were satisfied with their RE/MAX agent's professionalism. So if you've ever wondered why you are seeing more RE/MAX signs, it's obvious. They are signs of success.

330 THANK YOU

WE WOULD LIKE TO extend a sincere thank you to all our family, friends and neighbours who expressed their concern and best wishes for the entire family during Jeremy's hospital stay. The calls, cards, flowers, gifts and prayers were overwhelming. The tremendous amount of continued support for all of us is truly appreciated.

A special thank you must be expressed to Dr. Tina Stephenson and the emergency staff at the Haliburton Hospital; to Shannon Feir for her care and compassion during the flight to Toronto; to all the ambulance attendants and flight crew (in Haliburton, Lindsay and Toronto); to OPP Constable Mark Davis for his comfort on the scene; to Dr. James Waddell, his surgical staff and the nurses on the 4th floor at St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto; and to our friends for taking care of the homefront while we were away. Special appreciation goes to Jeremy's friend, Tom Neville, for staying by his side. Jeremy Durkin and family

WE WOULD LIKE TO THANK everyone for being there when a hug and kind words were needed, the phone calls and cards. Special thanks to Dr. S. Warsi and staff at Minden, Dr. Gail Darling, Dr. N.E. Marcon, Maria Cirrocco, Christine Ross and the rest of the research team of Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, doctors and staff at the Haliburton Hospital. To Corinne for the time and care to Olive, Isabella, Joan, May, Dot, Don, Cy, Gala, Molly and Harold, and all friends too numerous to mention. To Kim, May and the ladies of Ingoldsby U.C.W. To the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, thank you. Thanks to everyone for the flowers and donations in memory of Ron. We won't forget For memory's a golden chain That binds our hearts Till we meet to touch again. Vi Howell and family.

OUR SINCERE THANKS to all who expressed their kind thoughts and sympathy on the passing of our dear husband and father, Harvey. Shirley Riley and family

330 THANK YOU

WE WISH TO EXPRESS our gratitude to our wonderful friends who helped us with our recent move. The cleaning crew organized by Jennifer really made the new house sparkle. Thank you, Connie and Sarah for that afternoon of packing. The meals brought over by Robin, Anne and Marilyn were delicious and we would not have accomplished the move without all of that extra babysitting help from Dianne and Sarah. Thank you, Marilyn, for your many acts of thoughtfulness and Jean Tyler for your special gift. Thank you also, Dianne P., Dianne H., Glenis, Kerry and Willie, Dorell, Jane and John, Ann, Kim and Joann, for flowers, plants, candles and champagne which were both housewarming and heartwarming. We feel fortunate to be surrounded by such caring friends, Tom, Lauren, Rachel, Jocelyn and Leo

340 BIRTHS

Gearing up for the Rhubarb Patch wars

From the RHUBARB PATCH

Ruth Still

The wave of excitement and proposals for our Rhubarb Festival is building. Eight weeks to ride the growing crest of plans and efforts before the deadline is reached on July 15 and 16.

The "Rhubarb Way", 1/2 mile of events, lights, flags and banners will stretch from the intersection by the store, west, to the Rhubarb Community Park. There will, of course, be eating and pies, pies, pies. If the water is high enough there will be a wooden rhubarb-leaf water race down the Gull River through the hamlet.

Saturday and Sunday will be filled with family-oriented activities for all ages. A beef barbecue supper Saturday, followed by sunset cruises on Eagle Lake will conclude in a beach dance by the beach. Volunteer calls are coming in but we need many more offers of help. Don't forget to attend the Community Garage Sale, June 3 on Still Road - with or without rummage.

The CBC is running a rhubarb limerick contest. Here, at last, are two from Eagle Lake written by Marj Kennedy and Dean Fernandez. The limericks were aired this weekend. Have you one that you would like to contribute? Phone 754-2602.

Come up north to Eagle Lake

Where the rhubarb grows, and the locals bake

Try our wine, but not from the vine

It's from hardy red stock, and delightfully fine.

Our Rhubarb Festival Fun Days are set

July 15th, a great time you can bet

So come sample our rhubarb in all kinds of ways

What a wonderful way to spend your summer days.

In the land of lakes and four seasons

We grow a certain vegetable for many special reasons

It's the humble rhubarb, yes indeed

And we're inviting you up for a fantastic feed.

Come for the day or please stay for two

There'll be lots to see and plenty to do.

Yes, Eagle Lake is the place to be

July 15th, won't you come and see!
